By requesting a particular leadership team position, you are simply making known what you are interested in and your reasoning behind it. However it does not mean that you are guaranteed that position; you may be selected for leadership, but asked to fulfill a different area of responsibility. Remember that not everyone who applies will necessarily be given a place on the leadership team. This is not an insult or criticism against you personally. If after the team has been selected you have questions, disagreements, concerns, etc. please talk to Andy about it.*

I have filled out this application to the best of my ability. I understand the expectations of leadership, if I were to be on the team. I also understand that this application does not guarantee me a leadership spot.
